May Hard-Surface Arena To Speed Up Ice Making

Estimated Cost of $600 Would Give Decided Advantage in Getting an Earlier Start in Hockey Season.

Will the arena floor be hard-surfaced? That is a question which has to be settled before the week has passed.

Hours of discussion Tuesday evening between the hockey and arena executives brought the question to a head, and only minor matters stand in the way before it can be officially announced that the floor will receive a coat of hard-surface similar to that put down on Main street.

The purpose of the hard-surface is to allow ice to be made in the shortest possible time. At present, sawdust forms a base for the ice and two or three weeks are necessary to get an ice sheet surfaced for skating. Cost of the hard-surfacing will be about $600.

FURTHER EXPANSION OF TOWN AREA

The newly graded roadway from the International office to the higher level, known locally as Whiteside's hill, replaces the former road, which was difficult to travel in the winter and at other times of the year. It is much safer from a traffic standpoint. There is also a likelihood that additional lots for residence purposes will be surveyed on the flat to which the roadway runs, as vacant lots in the original townsite have almost been taken up.

WUDEC KUBICA SERIOUSLY INJURED

While driving a "dinky" engine in International mine, it being his last trip for the shift, Wudec Kubica, 25 years, suffered a painful injury to his arm, and for a time it was feared that it would have to be amputated. The wheels of the engine were not getting enough traction, and Kubica was handling the throttle with one hand and leaning down sprinkling sand with the other. Apparently not knowing he was so near to some standing cars, his forearm was jammed between them and his engine, causing severe lacerations which severed arteries and tendons, and smashed the bones.

Ordinarily the sand is released through tubes from the engine, but these were not operating through there being dirt on the track, so that Kubica resorted to hand sprinkling. It is not known yet if his arm can be saved, though the doctors hold out hopes of favorable treatment. His wife is the former Miss Marjorie Johnson.

VALUE OF SPECIAL EDITIONS—THE HIGH RIVER TIMES' HARVEST NUMBER

The High River Times special harvest edition, consisting of 23 7-column pages, in the production of which S. J. Larsen assisted, was a highly creditable number.

Co-operation of advertisers was expressed by the editor, Charles Clark.

Mr. Larsen, it will be remembered, assisted in the production of The Coleman Journal's Industrial Edition in September, his assistant being Charles Howard.

These special numbers portray the assets and resources of a town and district in a striking manner, from which much valuable publicity is derived, besides which there is a quickening of local pride in the hearts of enterprising business people and citizens. It is by co-operation that these results are obtained, and from the pages of these special editions one can quickly discern names of the progressive business men of any community.

JOSEPH JOSEPH DIED SUDDENLY FRIDAY NIGHT

Born in Syria. Had Lived in Canada 20 Years. Lived at Hillcrest and Coleman.

Joseph Joseph, 55 years, for ten years resident in Coleman, died last Friday night from a heart attack. He had suffered for some years. Born in Lebanon, Syria, he came to Canada 25 years ago, and for several years was in business in Hillcrest. Following the closing of his business there, he with his family came to live in Coleman. There are besides his wife eight children surviving, the oldest being 20 years and the youngest three.

The funeral service was held at Holy Ghost church on Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. J. T. Dunbar officiating. Besides a large number of relatives, many acquaintances of the family were present.

Interment was in the Catholic cemetery. Many floral tributes were laid on the grave. Widespread sympathy is felt for the family in their bereavement.

Relatives attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Michael, Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coury, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Michael, Mr. and Mrs. William Michael, Mr. Tom Mosey, Mr. Tom Pabak, Mr. Mike Michael, all of Seattle; and from Tracy, Minn., Mrs. Van Dandred, mother of Mrs. Joseph.

The pallbearers, neighbors of deceased, were L. Richards, senior, F. Coccolone, J. Coccolone, H. Turner, Nick Carmello and Mr. Baratta.

Redemptorist Fathers Holding Mission at Holy Ghost Church

Commenced on Sunday Last and Will Continue During Next Week, Concluding Oct. 23.

Rev. Father McKenna, of the Redemptorist Fathers, Calgary, and Rev. Joseph Knapick, of the Redemptorist Fathers, are holding a special mission for two weeks. Last Sunday the week's mission opened, for the ladies and girls, and the times of services daily are 6, 7 and 8 a.m.; 2:30 and 4 p.m. for children, and at 7 and 8 p.m. for adults.

Next week the same hours will be observed, the week's mission services being particularly for the men and boys.

The missionary priests are interesting speakers and the services are being well attended.

Mr. C. J. Tompkins has been elected president of Blainmore Sports Association for the term 1938-39. Sidney White declined the nomination in favor of Mr. Tompkins.

Di. Gould Passes on After Brief Illness

Had Lived Here Since 1920. Leaves Wife and Family in England. Funeral on Saturday.

David James Gould, 50 years, respected Coleman citizen, passed away at Coleman hospital on Wednesday at 4 a.m., the victim of pneumonia. Deceased was only admitted to hospital on Oct. 8.

He was born in 1888 in Somersetshire, England, close to the Welsh border. He grew to manhood in Wales and came to Coleman in 1920, where he secured employment at International mine. At the outbreak of the big strike in 1922, he returned to Yarmouth, Wales, where his wife and four children reside. He returned to Coleman in 1924, and again was employed at the International.

Following the explosion at McGillivray mine in 1925, he left Coleman, and for two years worked in the mines at Nollag, Cardigan and Mercol. Returning to Coleman in 1928, he failed to get work until 1929, when he became an employee of McGillivray mine and worked there until his recent illness.

Deceased was an ardent dog fancier, and his many dogs were his constant companions and he derived great enjoyment in training them. He has fished practically every stream in the surrounding district and only during the past two years was he forced to give up this pleasure, due to rheumatism.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 3 p.m., with services at St. Alban's church, and will be under the direction of Coleman Miners' Association, Crows' Nest Funeral Home being in charge of arrangements.

One gentleman, a reader it is presumed, of The Journal, remarks that the only time he would expect to see his picture in the paper is when he graduates from Lethbridge and in reply to that, we might state that if he becomes notorious by becoming a guest of the King in that institution, The Journal will comply with his wishes.

Coleman Schools Retained Sports Shield For Second Year

Girlinging, Beddington, Sharp Lead Coleman's Successful Bid to Retain Shield Hold Five-Point Margin Over Bellevue.

Coleman school athletes successfully turned back the determined challenge of Pass schools at Blainmore sports stadium on Friday, Sept. 30, to retain the shield which they won in 1937. Coach Ray Spillers reaped his reward for weeks of strenuous effort when his proteges came off in front in the majority of the events. Frank Girling led in Class A division with 19 points, closely followed by Nick Polak and Helen Guimond with 16 points each. This event, consisting of athletes from the elementary grades, scored the huge total of 54 points to far out-distance their rivals and gave Coleman a point margin that was sufficient to absorb the gains made by Bellevue in the Class C event. Fred Beddington led Coleman's Class B division with 16 points, while Frank Sharp led Coleman in front in the senior division with 16 points, Olwen Brown being close behind with 12.

Coleman's points were awarded for 1st, 2nd, etc., as follows:

Class A—100 Yards dash, girls: 1, Helen Guimond; 2, Leona Henriette; 3, 100 Yards dash, boys: 1, Nick Polak; 2, Frank Girling. Relay, girls: 1, Helen Guimond, Leona Henriette, Helen Clark, Shirley

Board of Trade Rally Monday, Oct. 24

Banquet to be Followed by Address of Vital Interest by Assistant to the Vice-President, C. P. R. Western Lines.

The importance of the influence of a Board of Trade in the business life of a community will be dealt with in a rally here on the above date, when Mr. C. E. Stockdill, a prominent executive official of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, will give an address following a banquet to be served in the Grand Union hotel, commencing at 7:45 p.m.

Not only as president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, but as one of the executive committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which recently held its annual meeting at Lucerne, in Quebec, and prominent in other spheres of activity, Mr. Stockdill is particularly well qualified to discuss the business and professional men of the Crows' Nest Pass towns.

The railroad company with which he is connected is the largest customer of steam coal mines in this area, and his address will have particular interest to all dependent on the coal industry.

As there will be only limited accommodation available, those wishing to secure tickets should do so as early as possible. Mr. and Mrs. Bell promise another of their fine banquets at the Grand Union, and the tickets will be $12.50, which includes $1.00 for the banquet and 25 cents for incidental expenses. For visitors from other Pass towns, the tickets will be $1.00, and they may be obtained from Mr. W. L. Rippon, honorary secretary of Coleman Board of Trade, at the Bank of Commerce, Coleman; from Mr. L. L. Morgan, president of Blainmore Board of Trade; Capt. Ed. Donkin, reeve of Bellevue; A. M. Warriner, secretary of Hillcrest Collieries; J. Haydon, Bellevue Drug Store, or by telephoning H. T. Halliwell, president of the Coleman Board of Trade, Journal office, Coleman.

Mr. Stockdill will arrive here on the afternoon of Oct. 24, and will likely visit the mining properties during the afternoon.

LETHBRIDGE HOCKEY PLAYERS START TRAINING — 1500 SEASON TICKETS SOLD

It has been announced, that within a very few days, Herman Thole expects to have his 1938-39 edition of puck-chasers doing their daily dozen in the Lethbridge artificial arena, preparatory for the opening of the senior Alberta hockey league, which will commence in November.

Herman Thole stated to Coleman hockey officials at Calgary on Sunday that week he sold 1500 season tickets at the "regular price." Last year the "regular price" was 75c a game. Figuring on this basis, season tickets are selling in Lethbridge at $12 each, and 1500 of them will mean a revenue of $18,000.

In comparison with the above figures, Coleman fans should appreciate the fact that season tickets to Canadians' games cost $9, or 56c a game. Make application for your ticket now from any member of the club executive or phone The Journal.

MAY GET INTO BIG-TIME PLAYERS' RANKS

Two Pass youths, Francis Marconi and Eddie Seaman, left early Wednesday morning for Calgary, where they will take part in the baseball game between the American big league stars and an all-star team from Calgary.

To Marconi and Seaman it means more than an ordinary ball game. It means that if they can deliver the goods they will be taken in charge by professional interests and a new life will open up for them. On their performances yesterday were the eyes of both big league scouts and players, and on their decision rests the future of both local boys.

JOE FISHER REPORTS TO DETROIT RED WINGS

Joe Fisher, former Coleman hockey player, left Medicine Hat during the past week to report to officials of Detroit Red Wings, of the National Hockey League.

Playing for Coleman in 1936-37, Joe spent last year for Kirkland Lake area in northern Ontario, where his playing ability was spotted by a big league scout. The result that he signed a big league contract last spring. On his showing at the training camp depends whether Joe will be taken up into the big-time. Should he fail, he will be sent to a minor professional league for experience.

Coleman hockey fans wish him success.

NEW SURGERY BUILDING OPENED

Much improved facilities have been provided in the new surgery opposite the hospital, besides which the attractive building erected by Contractor D'Appollonia, under contract from Coleman Miners' Association, adds to the appearance of the place.

It has two consulting rooms, a dispensing room, a board room for meetings of the hospital board, a commodious waiting room and a bath room. The basement houses the heat plant, besides giving ample storage space. The land on which it stands was given by International Coal Co.

Under the arrangements made between the hospital board and the doctors, it is leased by the latter on a rental basis of $35 per month, the doctors assuming the cost of heating, lighting and caretaking.

an Kovac, 440 Yards: 2, Frank Sharp. One mile: 1, Deno DeMartin. Relay, girls: 1, Olwen Brown, Elsie D'Appollonia, Carrie Churis, Irene McLeod.

Relay, boys: 2, Frank Sharp, Milan Kovac, Alfred Jones, Jack Russell. Running broad jump, girls: 3, Olwen Brown.

Running broad jump, boys: 2, Milan Kovac. Baseball throw: 3, Olwen Brown. Shot put: 3, Ian Smith. Hop and scotch: 3, Frank Sharp; 4, Alfred Jones.

The pole vault was officially cancelled when the pole was broken. Coleman's three entries were still in the competition. The climax of the day came in the event, only three points separated Bellevue from the leading Coleman team. On Deno DeMartin rested the responsibility of winning or losing the shield for Coleman. DeMartin took the lead from the start to run a well-planned race and romp home the winner to the cheers of the Coleman gang.

Pennant was awarded to Coleman's Class A for winning that division. Pennant was given to both Bellevue and Coleman in Class B, both having an equal number of points. Bellevue won out in Class C to win the pennant for that division.

A number of other youths who failed to make points, and those who stood ready to be edged into competition should any of the star athletes be injured, are deserving of praise and rightly have in the honor of winning the shield for Coleman.

GRIPPED BY MISERY OF A SORE THROAT!

(DUE TO A COLD)

Do this NOW—gargle with Vicks VapoRub. Melt a small lump of Vicks VapoRub on the tongue. Feel the cool, tingling relief—where you want it—when you want it.

Then TONIGHT—massage throat, chest and back with VapoRub. Its soothing vapors loosen phlegm—clears air passages—eases coughing—relieves all congestion.

This 2-STEP METHOD is one of the proved ways of using Vicks VapoRub that has made it a family standard in more homes than all other medicaments of its kind.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Canada's imports of farm implements and machinery in August jumped to $3,299,963 from $1,754,008 in August, 1937, the Dominion bureau of statistics said.

W. J. Windbank, of Mission, B.C., arrived at Halifax, after a 14-day, 4,000-mile trip on a motorcycle. He intends to take up science at Dalhousie University. He averaged from 350 to 400 miles a day.

Still A Popular Attraction

Thousands Visit Imperial War Museum in London Every Year.

Relics of the great war continue to attract thousands in London. An official report shows approximately 350,000 people visit the Imperial war museum annually.

New additions to the museum's exhibits include a steel helmet worn by King George V. on Wythevale ridge on July 4, 1917, and souvenirs picked up by the King at Vimy ridge on the same visit to France. Also there is the King's copy of the message he sent to the troops of the expeditionary force on Aug. 12, 1914.

Inquiries made at the museum cover every aspect of the war. Some of them show the influence of current events. All but one of these inquiries has been answered. The question which has completely baffled the librarian is the origin of the word "blimp".

Commenting on this, the News-Chronicle remarks: "But, really, what other name was possible for those sausage-like balloons — and sausage-minded colonels?"

For All Tastes

Budapest has a population of 1,000,000, and there are 22 political daily newspapers to choose from. Apart from that there are 35 news agencies, 40 official papers, 45 political and municipal papers, 150 economic and 150 industrial ones, and about 100 denominational journals. Something for all tastes.

Columnists who deliberately write bad English seem to overlook the fact that enough bad English is already being written by people who are not trying to be funny.

Coal For British Ships

Ship To Be Built To Show The Advantages Of Coal

An experimental ship, costing approximately $80,000 (about $400,000) will be built in Britain to demonstrate the advantages of coal as fuel.

With the moral support of the admiralty, the undertaking is being promoted by interests represented on the mines department committee, which has been examining possibilities of increasing in the national interest, use of coal for bunkering purposes.

The type of ship to be built will be in the cargo and intermediate passenger liner, considered to have the best chance of competing successfully with oil. A company, to be formed if the experiment proves a success, will undertake construction of a fleet of similar vessels.

Criticism of the policy of using oil instead of coal by the British navy and much of the mercantile fleet, has been growing in recent months. The critics contend national security is menaced by dependence on foreign sources for fuel supplies. They also argue that the rapid elimination of coal as ship's fuel is undermining the vital coal industry.

A number of naval authorities and navigation leaders have given their support to the coal campaign, but Rear-Admiral G. W. Baldwin, now retired, believes there have been sound reasons for favoring oil.

"During the past 40 years," he says, "the fixed policy of successive boards of the admiralty has been the gradual elimination of coal from the fleet in favor of liquid fuel."

Similar changes have been effected in other navies and all of them with one object—to obtain from each ton of warship displacement the maximum of such desirable and essential features as gun-power, armor, water-tight sub-division, speed, fuel and endurance.

Growing in Popularity

Air-Conditioning Will Soon Be Regular Feature In Homes

Mark Twain was wrong. He said "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it." Heating engineers have been studying it and have discovered that it is not enough to have the right degree of temperature in our homes, but to make us comfortable, we must have the right amount of moisture, the air in motion, and free from dust particles. They are about to change the weather in our homes, making them cool and less damp in summer and warm and properly humidified in winter. This new process they call air conditioning.

By evaporating water in the heating plant they can humidify the air. Filters can clean it, and blowers can keep it in motion. It will be more difficult and more expensive—to take out some of the moisture from the air and keep it in motion and filtered in the summer.

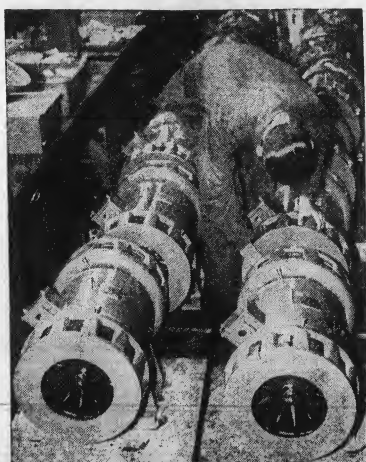

Many new homes are installing air conditioning plants, and some are adding these to their present heating systems. A few are arranging to air condition one or two rooms of the house. The time will come when air conditioning will be a regular feature of "modern conveniences."

Education Costs

Fall Heaviest On Shoulders Of The Rural Population

Due to the unequal distribution of population and of children, education costs fall more heavily on the shoulders of the rural population, says the Brandon Sun. Violent fluctuations in the prices of primary products affect the smaller urban and the rural communities more acutely than they do the large urban centres depending on a more diversified economy. The only solution to this problem seems to lie in the creation of a larger unit of school support with the cost equalized over all the communities in the unit, urban and rural, large and small. Although the province would be the most effective unit, two things stand in the way—the hesitancy of the local school boards to yield their autonomy to provincial governments and the inability of the provinces to assume the greater financial burden involved. A redistribution of responsibilities or powers of taxation among municipalities, provinces and Dominion is necessary to solve the latter problem and most provinces are obstacles to an equitable solution.

AIR RAID SIRENS MAY NEVER BE USED

Hundreds of air raid sirens, working on the principle of the gadget used by boys on bicycles, had been ordered by the British Government from a Leicester firm for use in the Metropolitan area and many provincial cities. A 4-h.p. motor sucks in air at one end and, placed at intervals of a mile, the sirens were to sound an alarm that would warn the populace of approaching air-raiders. Now, happily, they may never be needed. Our picture shows some of the sirens being prepared for shipment.

Thinks Record Is Safe

But Captain Eyston Believes He Could Travel Even Faster

Captain G. E. T. Eyston, the bespectacled Englishman whose Thunderbolt holds the world's land speed record of 357.5 miles an hour, told the Empire Club luncheon in Toronto: "I am satisfied Great Britain has put this record where it will be difficult to lift by any one outside the country."

"The best part of getting the record is when it is all over," according to the man who on Sept. 16 hurtled over the Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, faster than any human ever before travelled on land.

In a brief, informal address during which he frequently glanced down at his pile of notes and almost as frequently smiled broadly at his own quiet and ironic jokes, Captain Eyston told of the thrills and hard work that go with hanging up a new land speed record.

And while there was no mistaking his quiet pride in the achievement, he did not regard "the magic six miles a minute" as the absolute high for land. "As far as Thunderbolt is concerned, I am quite confident that it is capable of doing more," he said, adding however, that "a tremendous lot of development work must be done before we shall begin approaching the 400-mile-an-hour mark."

While the greatest thrill for the driver of the record-breaking car was "when it was over," the greatest thrill for the spectator was in the fact the thunderous roar of the speeding car followed it at an interval of one-half mile, he declared.

Would Like To Exchange Diesel Trucks For Australian Product

The vice-president of a German firm which employs 16,000 people recently arrived in Sydney, Australia, from the Far East where, he said, his firm had received orders for fighting planes, but he refused to disclose which power had given the order. His firm was producing about 40 planes a month for the German air ministry. He had gone to Australia seeking orders for Diesel trucks, built by his firm, in exchange for Australian wool which Germany needed.—Brandon Sun.

Money For Luxuries

Dominion Bureau Of Statistics Gives Figures For 1937

Dominion Bureau of Statistics says Canadians spent something like $190,000,000 in 1937 in three or four dollars to wit: For liquor, $109,000,000 ($10 for every man, woman and child in the country); 6,000,000,000 cigarettes, 123,000,000 cigars; wagaged $21,000,000 at race tracks. "It makes one almost believe," says the Ottawa Journal, "that, apart from the unemployment of many, much of our 'hard times' thought is largely psychological."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 16

REVERENCE FOR GOD

Golden text: Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Matthew 6:9.

Lesson: Exodus 20:7; Matthew 5:33-37; 12:33-37.

Devotional reading: Exodus 33:17-23.

Explanations And Comments

The Third Commandment: Reverence for God, Exodus 20:7. Thou shalt not take the name of Jehovah thy God in vain. Name stands for character, personality. In vain means lightly, heedlessly. The Jews took the name of God to mean the vocables by which he was called; and because they thought the name Jehovah more sacred than Adonai, Lord, the other name of God, they pronounced the former with the vowels of the latter, "a though the thing to be revered was the mere breath of exhaled air; and thus slavishly keeping the commandment in the letter, they broke it in the spirit."

This commandment in its full meaning refers to false swearing or perjury. Thou shalt not swear thyself (Thou shalt not swear falsely, Lev. 19:12), but shall perform unto the Lord thy oath. In Old Testament times an oath was used to make men's vows and promises binding. Sworn not at all, Matthew 5:22-27. Again (see verses 21 and 27) ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not swear thyself (Thou shalt not swear falsely, Lev. 19:12), but shall perform unto the Lord thy oath. In Old Testament times an oath was used to make men's vows and promises binding. Sworn not at all, Matthew 5:22-27. Again (see verses 21 and 27) ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not swear thyself (Thou shalt not swear falsely, Lev. 19:12), but shall perform unto the Lord thy oath. In Old Testament times an oath was used to make men's vows and promises binding. Sworn not at all, Matthew 5:22-27. Again (see verses 21 and 27) ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not swear thyself (Thou shalt not swear falsely, Lev. 19:12), but shall perform unto the Lord thy oath. ## JOYS AND GLOOMS

Question Is Settled

Soundings Have Been Taken Of Saskatchewan Lake Depths

The popular question with visitors at Saskatchewan's lakeland resorts each summer is, "How deep is the water?" The answer usually given offhand but with an air of great omniscience by the residents is, "Oh, about 600 feet," or it may vary from "Just a few feet" to "No bottom has been reached." The question is settled once and for all by Hon. W. F. Kerr, Minister of Natural Resources, who has just issued a list of soundings of the various lakes taken by officials of his department. The following facts on depths and areas of well-known lakes in the province, while they dissipate the charm of exaggeration heretofore enjoyed by the residents, are nonetheless interesting: Last Mountain lake, 65 miles long and from one to four miles wide, is 104 feet at its deepest point, and covers 186 square miles; Lake Katchewan, seven miles long by two miles wide, has a maximum depth of 75 feet; Midge Lake, 5 miles long by 4 miles wide, is 90 feet deep; Kenosae Lake, 48 feet deep; Mission lake, 75 feet at its deepest point; Pelletier, 60 feet deep.

The deepest of the lakes in the province so far sounded is Pierce Lake, which is 300 feet at its deepest spot and averages some 200 feet. Lake Athabasca with an area of 2,800 square miles, averages 150 feet in depth. Reindeer Lake, largest of provincial waters, has an area of 3,200 square miles.

Can Stand Punishment

When Two Old Cars Come Together, What Happens?

Believe it or not, we have never actually witnessed an automobile accident (though we have seen the aftermath of many). And we are not anxious to view such a spectacle! The other day as we drove into London at a slow turn the car ahead of us, an ancient chariot, wheeled head-on toward another old bus we were meeting. "Now," we ejaculated, "we are going to see something." There was a crash as of collapsing tinware. Then both cars reversed gears, but for a moment they appeared to be solidly enmeshed. Then something gave and they flew apart. We expected to see both drivers jump out to view the damage. But no, they backed up farther, turned steering wheels and set off on their respective ways. Not even stopping to give each other a nasty look. "Those old cars sure can stand a lot of punishment," our companion remarked.—St. Mary's Journal.

CHAPTER V.—Continued

The big man was running about with both hands in the air. Other miners attempted to halt him, but only momentarily. At last he saw Hammond and headed for him.

"I told you it was a new Klondyke!" he shouted. "Look what I found in the clean-up!"

He opened his clenched hands. In each was at least a dozen nuggets, some no larger than a pinhead, others bigger than peas. Kay squealed with interest.

"Isn't it perfectly thrilling?" she asked. There was a queer, feverish glint in her eyes. Her hands opened and closed spasmodically. "Just to think of digging up the ground and picking out gold!"

Olson veered again into mad gyrations, at last to bring up short before Mrs. Joyce and extend his treasures to her.

"Look at Mother," the girl said. "She's actually interested!"

Mrs. Joyce was asking questions and with an extended finger was turning over the nuggets as they lay in the giant paws of Olson. The big man stood there, grinning; somewhat surprised, Hammond saw Mrs. Joyce smile quite gayly. He laughed. "Gold certainly is anybody's introduction!"

Kay shrugged her shoulders. "But Mother—" she exclaimed, and did not finish the sentence.

They went on then to examine the sluice box. After a time Hammond followed Kay's glance as she once more looked back. Olson and Mrs. Joyce were still talking. At last, Kay said, almost fretfully:

"But, Jack, all this isn't getting me started on my gold mine."

He looked at her. "Why the hurry?" But isn't that what a person is supposed to do, the minute you get in camp?"

Jack stared. "You're not serious?"

"Of course I'm serious, silly. Why should I have a gold mine?"

"A placer claim, since you are serious," he corrected her laughingly. "But I just laid the thing aside for you—merely for fun."

"Then you mean there isn't any gold in it?"

"Of course, I hope there's gold. But what's the need, Kay? There'll be enough coming out of Joe's claim and mine."

"But that wouldn't be my claim, would it? I want to feel it's really mine—that I got it out of the ground."

"But you couldn't do the actual labor."

"No—" she hesitated. "Of course, I couldn't do that."

"Then I'll try to scare you up some men tomorrow. I didn't have any idea you'd actually want to work this. I just laid it aside so you could say you owned a placer."

"Why shouldn't I work it?"

"Couldn't it wait until we get back from Vancouver?"

"Vancouver?" she asked.

"Or," he hanted, "shall we be married here, by Sergeant Terry of the Mounted Police?"

"Oh!" She pushed him playfully. "I thought for a minute you were serious!"

"Quickly she turned. "Oh Mother!" she cried almost plaintively, "aren't you ever coming?"

Still smiling, Mrs. Joyce parted from the volatile Olson, and then a few feet away, raised a hand, wiggling her fingers in an extra gesture of parting. Kay straightened.

"Well," she asked, in a tone meant to contain banter, "is he Clark Gable or John Barrymore?"

"He's a very nice man," snapped Mrs. Joyce, her features again emotionless. "And that's an end to the matter."

Shortly after that, Kay complained of a headache and led the way back to the cottage. Hammond returned to his work with McKenzie Joe.

It was evening when he once more took the trail upward. This time he did not hurry. The man was thoughtful, obsessed. There was something strange about Kay, her nervousness, her quickness.

Higher he swung along the trail, at last to veer under the jutting point of land which ran out from beneath the cottage; the trail here followed the cliff almost to the veranda, where it jutted straight upward and came out at the cabin steps. Suddenly he raised his head. Low voices which had come faintly from the rear of the building now had shifted closer until he could hear every word.

"And I'm telling you, Mother, that I'm not going to stand for it! I won't—I won't!"

"How are you going to help yourself?" The usually calm tones of Mrs. Joyce were high-pitched, excited. "You live your life and I'll live mine. But I'll tell you this—I had all the damned hypocrisy I wanted with your father."

"But Mother, this terrible Olson!"

"That's enough about Olson!" Mrs. Joyce cried out. "I'll be the judge in that matter!"

Desperately Hammond began to whistle. The voices ceased. A moment later, Kay Joyce met him at the door, her usual vibrantly pleasant self.

"Oh, come in," she said and kissed him. "We had begun to wonder what on earth had become of you!"

Late that night, Jack Hammond stood with Kay on a jutting point overlooking the valley. Here and there a faint light gleamed in the settlement, a vagrant candle or the dying embers of a prospector's evening fire.

"Kay," said the man almost abruptly. "I want to talk to you about ourselves."

"And I want to talk to you about yourself. Why are you so nervous—so ill at ease?"

"I?" It amazed him. "It's all news to me. Maybe I've been over-anxious—to please you."

"Perhaps that's it." She clasped his hand with both of hers, raising it to her breast. The yield of soft flesh fired him. He whistled and caught her tight to him, his kisses burning her—he felt the touch of her soft hair against his cheek, the brush of an earlobe on his forehead as, eager, roving, he bent to caress the smoothness of her throat.

"I've waited so long for you," he begged. "All my life—"

"Jack dear," she gasped, freeing herself. "You say you want me—and then try to crush me to death. But," she shivered deliciously, "how I love it!"

From afar came the roar of an airplane motor, at last to reveal the riding lights of Timmy Moon's plane, skimming high over the mountains in the moonlight; it was the third trip the pilot had made to Wrangell that day. At last the ship banked in a wild circle and with the motor cut off, dropped downward to the surface of the moonlit Sapphire and the nicety of a safe landing.

"But you're just telling me."

"Yes, that's true. If the theory ever got out this camp would go crazy staking claims."

"And you're afraid I might publish it?" she asked, with a queer little laugh.

"Oh, Kay? Of course not. Everything I've got is yours—even my thoughts."

She pressed his arm.

"You're awfully sweet, do you know it?"

"I'm crazy about you—I know that," he said, with a short laugh.

"I can say the same to you. And oh, Jack, I want you to strike it rich—richer than any other man on earth."

He looked out over the shadowy valley.

"Somewhere over there," he said throatily, "enough gold to make us all millionaires in a dozen times over. Tons of gold, Kay—the deposits of thousands of years, just waiting for someone to come along and wash it out of the gravel."

"But where?" she insisted. He ran a hand across his forehead. A long moment passed. Jack Hammond was struggling with his promises to Joe. Then suddenly the secret flooded forth, the belief that somewhere, in that mist, Moose river had run in a different and long-abandoned bed, there to deposit all the gold, washed down from the hills by thousands of freshets and spring floods.

Dream To Be Realized

California Man Will Sail Around World In Small Boat

When Charles Westrem, retired Los Angeles restaurant owner, casually remarked in conversation with his two sons, that he would like to take a trip around the world in a small boat, little did he realize that his passing remark would become an actuality.

For now a trim little 29-foot sailing yacht is in Los Angeles harbor ready to weigh anchor on the first lap of this world cruise.

It was through the persistence of the two sons, Bill, 25, a U.C.L.A. student, and Bud, 19, a recent graduate of Hollywood high school, that the elder Westrem finally had to make good on what he thought was merely a passing remark.

After a year of hard work during which time the two sons built the trim yacht, it was finally launched a few weeks ago. Except for laying the keel, every part of the boat was built by the two youths, even to the making of the sails. The boat is equipped with a small auxiliary motor, to be used only in entering ports of call.

Outside of a few trips to Catalina Island, 27 miles from the mainland, the three have had no previous sailing experience. Bill will act as navigating officer. When questioned about the danger of the trip, Bill Westrem remarked:

"We expect to make it a leisurely one and expect to be gone about three years. Of course, there will have to be a constant 24-hour watch on a trip like this, but we are looking upon it as a pleasure jaunt. We are headed about 200 miles west of Catalina, where we expect to meet the trade winds to carry us to the Marquesas Islands, a small group in the South Pacific, a distance of 3,300 miles. The first lap is probably the most hazardous of the entire trip."

The elder Westrem is just as enthusiastic about the trip as his two sons. Despite the fact that he is now approaching his sixtieth birthday, he is as active as most men half his age.

Angry Wife: "The night before last you came home yesterday. Last night you came home to-day. If you come home to-morrow to-night there's going to be a real row!"

Four-fifths of England's forests were depleted during the World War.

Why Are You So Nervous, So Ill at Ease?

"Timmy's taking chances," said Hammond.

"Oh, he's gone mad with a little money."

"Well, don't we all?"

"I suppose so—although it's been so long since I've seen any."

This was a different Kay, strangely frank, calmly bringing up a subject which Hammond had been reluctant even to mention.

"I want to talk about that," he said at last.

"And I still want to talk about you," she countered. "About your plans."

He was silent a moment. Then: "Did I build too pretty a picture down there in Seattle?"

"Don't be silly, I'm thinking of you. Has everything turned out the way you wanted it?"

"Of course," he answered, with a little surprise. "Naturally we're not making a lot out of those Loon creek placers."

"But you've got some other claims, worth a lot more."

"Yes—if we can only find the gold."

"That's what you mentioned last night."

"Where are they?"

"The claims? Back on the flats, away from Moose river."

"But how would you go about finding gold away off there?"

A long period of silence followed.

"I don't know how Joe will feel about me telling that," came finally.

Surely you have friends and relatives in Britain who are eagerly looking forward to seeing you again... don't disappoint them any longer... so this Christmas round trip rates are low and the sailings shown below provide convenient dates.

TAKE THE LEAD OFF OF YOUR LEGS

Get Oozyn in Your Blood and You'll Get the Pep that Sends You Bounding Up the Stairs.

People who suffer from lead in the blood have been completely cut off from them. Just as surely you are slowly smothered if your blood lacks red corpuscles. Red corpuscles are your oxygen-carriers. They carry the oxygen you need to every part of your system. Without enough oxygen-carrying corpuscles, your kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels slow down. Your skin gets pale, badly, often, simply. Your nerves may become jittery—you tire quickly—feel depressed.

What you need is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills help you make more and better red corpuscles and thus increase the oxygen-carrying power of your blood. Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today at your drug and see for yourself how quickly this time-proven blood-builder will help give you back your pep. Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

Current Comment on Local Events

EVERY YEAR though rate-payers are reminded that registration is necessary during September and October, when the time arrives for municipal elections many complain they have been left off the voters' lists.

THIS IS their own fault. The town council does not make the laws governing municipal elections; the province does. Registration of those not actual owners of property is required. There is still opportunity, till the last day of this month. If you are refused a ballot next February because you have not registered, blame nobody but yourself.

LACK OF co-operation on the part of business men through community organizations is regrettable, for the reason that there were more frequent gatherings—through a board of trade or similar organization, a better understanding of each other would be obtained. For this reason it is earnestly hoped that all will join in an effort to make the Board of Trade rally on Monday, October 24, successful in point of attendance. One or two cannot make a Board function, but all working together for the common good can do much in an advisory capacity.

LAST WEEK editors of weekly newspapers in Alberta met for their annual convention in Calgary. The editor of this paper was unable to attend, the first time in many years that we have missed. But when you get a kink in your innards that about doubles you in two, there is no help for it but to get better the best way you know how. However, it was a successful gathering; editors were optimistic over their work, and their steady devotion to the communities they serve is as strong as ever. To Ralph C. Jessup, of the Macleod Gazette, congratulations are extended on his elevation to the presidency for the ensuing year.

THE TRAGIC story by forest fire in Fort Frances district of two mothers and nine young children could have been prevented had they heeded the warnings of fire rangers to move out while there was time to escape the fire's ravages. But clinging on to the home humble though it may be, is the natural thing to do, hoping that something will turn up to save their home. The news caused a heart-ache as one read that the mothers were found lying across their babies to save them from the certain death that engulfed them. Such are the tragedies of a fate that might have been escaped.

THIS column is short of its usual "string" of comment this week, for which we ask our readers' indulgence. Even an editor has his off days, or spasms of mental laziness.

Let Government Mind Its Own Business

(The Bowmanville Statesman)

W. H. Moore, Federal member for South Ontario, in an address at Whitby last week warned of the danger of government intervention in business. Mr. Moore former Tariff Board Chairman, is agreed that business must be kept clean, but feels that some day if the policy of government control of business continues, Canada will be ruled as some European nations are ruled.

Big business as we understand it, must be conducted by successful and experienced business men. The average politician knows little about business, and it is suicidal to attempt a control of business by men who are not equipped mentally or otherwise, to tell business how it should be operated. Government control of business has much the same effect as C.I.O. control of labor. Labor is entitled to a square deal, but if labor attempts to run a business without adequate knowledge of all that is entailed, then labor is only courting trouble for itself.

We read the other day where a certain industry was paying wages averaging between $50 and $60 per week. The C.I.O. stepped in with a demand of a very minor nature, called a strike, forced cancellation of orders, and today the men they were supposed to help are now only earning between $25 and $30 per week. We cite this case just to illustrate what can happen when non-business men try to control business they do not understand. And the worst part of it is, that too many working men have been fooled into paying into a union which has brought them economic ruin.

The Churches

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH

Eighteenth Sunday after Trinity—10 a.m., Sunday school.
7 p.m., Evensong and sermon.

Read Romans 15:1-7.
Have you ever groped around in the dark for a light? We laugh at old-fashioned people who refuse to install electric lighting. We pride ourselves on being up-to-date. Probably we are in regard to household lighting. But are we up-to-date when it comes to Spiritual Light? Very often, the most modern people in terms of this world are the most benighted in their ideas of the Church and the Bible. Somehow they think that because they went to Sunday school years ago, they know all there is to know—when, as a matter of fact, they are as behind the times, religiously, as the people who continue to use kerosene lamps are, materially. You are cordially welcome at St. Alban's church. Your fellowship and co-operation are earnestly desired.

THE UNITED CHURCH

The regular autumn communion service will be held on Sunday morning at the regular hour. This has been delayed by other special Sunday services. No cards will be issued to communicants, but all members and friends are urged to be present. The evening services are being continued. Sunday school is at 12:15.

In the near future the congregation will have a visit from Mr. Burkholder, the newly appointed Young People's secretary for Alberta and British Columbia. Dr. J. A. Macdonald, superintendent of missions for southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, will also be with us for Sunday morning.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Pastor, Rev. C. H. Mooshian; assistant and organist, Gunnell Berglund.

Sunday services: Sunday school at 11 a.m., contest between the Blues and the Reds, with Blues in the lead. Morning worship at 12 noon, subject: "The Bible View of Thanksgiving"—Psalm 105. Thanksgiving will be observed, so please bring your special offering toward foreign missions. Street meeting at 6:30 p.m., in front of Coleman hotel. Evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m., special music, sermon subject: "The Leadership of Jesus"—Lev. 1:18.

Tuesday evening, 7:30, Bible study; lesson, I. Kings.
Friday evening, 7:30, first meeting of the missionary society; a special missionary program will be given.

SPLENDID SERIES OF ADVERTISEMENTS

The Calgary Herald, one of Canada's great daily papers, is starting a series of advertisements in the province. The first of the series, "Your Country Needs You," appeared last week, with others to follow each week. They are well worth your earnest consideration and leave you with food for thought. Don't miss any of the series, each one has been carefully and thoughtfully prepared, and carries a message well worth while.

LOYD SANDERSON TRIES OUT AT RED DUTTON'S HOCKEY SCHOOL

Lloyd Sanderson, who will patrol left wing for Canadians this winter, left on Sunday for Saskatoon, where he enrolled at Red Dutton's hockey school. He will have the advantage over other local players of a week's skating and professional coaching when the local season opens here. By being admitted to Dutton's school, he must have something on the puck, otherwise he would never have been given expense money for the trip.

TEACHING THE YOUNG IDEA

Your boy may not have exhibited any particular signs of genius but, if he is a normal youngster, he shows a healthy curiosity about things. He wants to know what is going on around him and what it means.

His teacher will tell you that his craving for knowledge is just as natural and healthy a sign as a good appetite. His brain gets as hungry for information as his body for food, and it is just as important that it should be satisfied.

Nothing you can give him will provide such a fund of interesting and varied information as a newspaper. A good newspaper is a potent stimulus to thought and development. It is the history of today, covering every field of human endeavor. You will find few teachers who do not read a newspaper. They know its value in keeping a mind alert and in tune with the times.

Give your family this important advantage. It means so much to young and inquiring minds.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR MACLEOD

F. O. McKENNA, popular Pincher Creek barrister, nominated this afternoon as candidate for the Federal constituency of Macleod. The seat is at present represented by Rev. E.G. Hansell, Social Credit member of the House of Commons. R.B. Allan of Stavely was also a nominee at the Macleod convention.

Local News

Attending the Liberal convention this afternoon at Macleod are J. S. D'Appolonia, Angelo Gentile, Mike Klish and S.B. VanDuzee.

Junior members of St. John Ambulance Association enjoyed a free show at the Palace as the guests of Coleman branch of the Association. And didn't they enjoy themselves!

Victoria Rebekah Lodge held an enjoyable whist drive on Tuesday evening, nine tables being in play. The winners were Mrs. Penn, of Sentinel; Mrs. Lottie Jenkins, winning the tie with Mrs. James Park, and Mrs. Pat-tinson, door prize.

The long arm of the law reached out early on Sunday morning two weeks ago and as a sequel in police court yesterday six men were fined $5.00 and costs and the owner of the place where they were raided was fined $25 and costs.

A Steady Reader

Harry Olson, C.P.R. roadmaster, Macleod to Crows Nest, was a caller at The Journal office on Wednesday. He is a Journal subscriber of many years standing, and no matter where he may live always has it forwarded weekly. At one time it was forwarded for several months to his home in Norway when he was home for a visit. "Just got to have it," says Harry, and that voices the feelings of the large circle of subscribers here and elsewhere.

ANSWERING QUESTIONS

People have occasionally enquired how pictures are printed in a news paper. The process followed by The Journal consists first of securing a photograph of the person or object. This is sent to the photo engravers, who reproduce by means of electro-photography under very powerful light rays the photo on a sensitized metal screen, either of zinc or copper, according to the quality required. This is further processed or etched deeper by acids, then the plate is mounted on a wooden block type-high, so that it receives the same impression as the type when on the press.

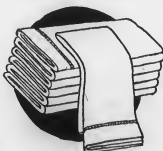

The minimum cost of a cut, such as a single column photograph, is $2.75, plus the cost of the photo film; while cuts of buildings run from approximately $5.00 up to as high as $25 or $30, according to size required, the cost being determined by the number of square inches.

This information will dispel the impression some may have that it does not cost anything to get your picture in the paper. It may not cost the individual, but it costs the proprietor of the paper the sums above stated.

It reminds one of a bibulous gentleman who walked into a daily newspaper office, and wanted to know if he could have his "picture" in the paper. The newspaper crew on duty assured him it could be done, on condition that he joined the "rum club."

"Why, sure thing," he said; "how much to join?" Just a couple of bottles of rum," he was told. Now, if any gent in Coleman wishes his picture in the paper on the same terms, this office will be glad to meet him after office hours or at any time when we can all enjoy the rum. So far, ninety-nine per cent of the cuts have not been produced on these terms; The Journal has borne the cost.

More Health In Bread

The fact that the hitherto discarded embryo of the wheat kernel contains enormous nutritive value might well be used to advantage in promoting the more extensive use of the major bread cereal in this country, provided the millers can be persuaded to reform their manufacturing methods to ensure that the full value of the grain is passed on to the consuming public.

By eliminating the embryo from the milled product millers have been able to produce a flour which yields a presumably very fine white loaf, extremely attractive in appearance, and therefore readily saleable among the public.

Unfortunately, however, the desire to present to the public a white loaf of seeming beauty has resulted in the sacrifice of some of the wheat's most healthful ingredients and substances essential to the support of a well balanced diet.

When one considers the substantial percentage of the nation's bulk food formed by bread the enormous loss to the consumer represented in the rejection of its most nutritive ingredients is more than unfortunate. It might more properly be termed a calamity.

A Stimulant To Consumption

Doctors and dietitians have known of the health value of whole wheat flour for some considerable time and almost daily one reads of the advocacy by prominent members of the medical profession and medical writers of the use of whole wheat bread as a health measure and as a corrective for certain forms of indigestion and weakening teeth.

It is only comparatively recently, however, that the full extent of the worth of whole wheat bread as a builder of a sound human frame has been determined by scientific and analytical processes as well as by the results of practical experimentation on the human constitution.

These scientific discoveries show that the embryo, or germ, of the wheat kernel is rich in vitamins A and B, E and G, all of them of great value in building up the human body and all playing their part in preserving it in a healthful condition; yet these valuable constituents, under present methods of manufacturing flour are treated as offal and thrown into the discard.

That the consuming public is not yet fully awakened to the loss it is sustaining as a result of existing milling practices is quite evident; otherwise there would be an insistent demand for bread made from whole wheat flour. When consumers recognize the value in terms of health represented in bread baked from flour containing the entire germ, no doubt the millers will accede to public requisition without raising any objection, and the knowledge that the bread they then get is doing much to promote their health should stimulate the public to increase its consumption of bread.

A Worthwhile Study

Commenting upon these discoveries the Western Retailer in an article in its September issue printed some remarks well worthy of study when it said:

"It is high time that the Canadian Government, the milling interests and bakers joined together, to give the Canadian public the real facts about the food value of wheat. Especially is this true in view of the fact that every advance in knowledge that has been made by science in the last thirty years has tended to show that one of the richest sources of useful vitamins (which are now becoming better understood) is the embryo of the wheat berry.

"The first baker to show the public a loaf of bread in which the full value of the embryo has been retained should receive the grateful thanks of the wheat farmer, the grain interests and every public servant whose interest is maintaining public health."

Education Needed

Those who are fortunate enough to be able to get bread baked from genuine whole wheat flour are well aware that the loaf thus produced is darker in appearance than the bread produced by "sterilized" white flour and the baker who produces such a loaf is less likely to get all the thanks he deserves, unless the public is prepared to accept his product.

In other words what is required is a program of public education on the virtues of whole wheat bread as the first step towards creating the necessary demand. Should the governments decide upon such a program, there is little doubt that they would receive the hearty support of the medical profession and of all those who are now aware of the health value of the wheat germ.

The economic importance of such a program should not be overlooked either, for a realization of the value of bread to health would naturally be followed by an increased consumption and bread would, in actual fact, again become the staff of life—and health.

A Conductor's Privilege

The question of whether a conductor can jump aboard his moving bus has been settled in magistrate's court at Georgetown, British Guiana. Conductor Albert Manowar was charged under a traffic ordinance with boarding the moving vehicle. The magistrate acquitted him, ruling the conductor had the "lawful authority" to do so.

Where Fear Reigns

Trench Revealed Coal

One Leeds resident reaped a neat little profit from England's mid-winter war scare. The last five feet of a nine-foot trench Henry Varley dug to shelter his family from air raids turned out to coal. He shovelled out two tons and there was no sign the seam was near exhaustion.

Compulsory In France

Children Barred From Schools Unless Immunized Against Diphtheria

In France immunization against diphtheria has for some time been obligatory for soldiers. During the present year the provision has been extended to include all school children. All children are required to be immunized against diphtheria in the first or second year of life. No child can be admitted to school without a certificate showing that this law has been complied with. All school children up to the age of 14 years, who have not been previously protected against diphtheria must submit to immunization as soon as possible after notice has been given in the official gazette. This announcement appeared on June 3rd. The Toxicoid administrations are free. It is said that any necessary outlay will be amply compensated by a marked reduction in the present mortality from diphtheria of 2,000 deaths and of over 20,000 cases annually.

In Canada, we attempt to gain the same results by education of the public as to the value of the protection afforded by immunization against diphtheria. The results have been gratifying. Whole communities where the little children have received doses of Toxicoid have for years remained immune to diphtheria. The work is rapidly extending year by year. Soon, through the effect of voluntary immunization Canada will be rid of this dangerous malady.

All children have Toxicoid as soon after they are six months of age as possible. The great mortality for diphtheria has been in children under the age of five, although children of all ages contract the disease and do not neglect the use of Toxicoid—your health officer or your family doctor will arrange it for you.

Trans-Canada Air Lines Gives Regulations For Baggage

According to Trans-Canada Air Lines, this is what the well-dressed woman can carry with her on a flying trip without exceeding the excess baggage regulations: "Suit case 21½ inches by 16½ inches by nine inches; two neckties, 12 inches by 18 inches; jacket; one pair dinner sandals; evening gown and bag; four pair gloves; six pair hose; lingerie; lightweight dressing gown; one pair mules; nightgown; jewelry case; sewing kit; rubberized toilet kit with cosmetics in lightweight containers." All this, according to T.C.A., officials who claim to be versed in such matters, weighs three pounds less than the maximum 35 pounds of baggage allowed each passenger without charge. Furthermore, they state a woman can exist for six weeks with such an outfit. Men, they complain, are forever carrying too much luggage and are always a problem to air line baggage masters.

Built Up Good Business

Hollanders Sold Bulbs For High Prices To Wealthy Americans

John Theodore Scheepers, premier agent in this country for the Holland bulb industry, who made himself rich by selling bulbs to wealthy persons at higher prices than his competitors demanded, died of heart disease in New York.

Mr. Scheepers was able to command high prices for his bulbs largely because he emphasized the esthetic and deprecated commercialism when dealing with his well-to-do customers. He idealized the flower for which his native Holland is famous and injected a new technique into bulb salesmanship. As a result, he sold some of his tulips for $500 each and rare daffodils at $250 a bulb. Some of his bills for large plantings on Long Island estates ran as high as $30,000.

In 1932 he was knighted by Queen Wilhelmina in the Order of Orange-Nassau. He conducted "garden lovers' pilgrimages" to Holland in 1935 and 1936.

Not long before his death he provided 1,000,000 flower bulbs for planting in the grounds of the New York World's Fair 1939.

In 1911 he started his own business, selling tulips to greenhouses. In later life he looked upon those two years with distaste because of their excessive commercialism. When dealing subsequently with his wealthy private customers about the note that entered the negotiations was when he sent around his suggestion of a friend he gave up selling to greenhouses and began catering to amateur gardeners. He went up to Newport, R.I., in a second-hand Ford and there the first friend he made was Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt. She paid him $1,000 for a small collection of bulbs. She told her friends where they could buy the bulbs and when he left Newport he had $50,000 in orders.

His clientele of select customers grew steadily. His competitors found it hard to understand how he could outsell them at such high prices. His customers were buying esthetic delights and old-world fantasies in blossoms instead of just tulips. He even charged $3 each for his catalogues while his competitors were furnishing theirs free.

Sometimes, however, customers were enraged by the bills. One man was so indignant that he dug up the bulbs and sent them back. Another refused to pay a bill of $50,000. Mr. Scheepers sued him and the case was settled out of court for $30,000.

Collective Security

Justice In The End Is Sure To Prevail

The phrase "collective security" has come to have a bitter taste in men's mouths. Yet in the long run there is no choice between collective security and ruin. In the long run the lives and property of peaceable, non-offending men and women of peaceable, non-offending nations will be made safe or civilization will die. And will not die. It is a far tougher organism than those who assail it and those who betray it are willing to believe. It has come out of pain and sweat and sacrifice. It has come out of the minds and hearts of men and women turning away from ease and softness to do hard tasks. It has come out of hopes and dreams and visions. It has been defended on battlefields and on sinking ships and in the narrow room of poverty. Those who have built it, those who now sustain it—the humble and obscure as well as the powerful—are slow to anger, but, like the mills of God, when once aroused they grind exceeding small. They can be driven back, defeated for a day, but they will not be destroyed for ever. There is a justice in the world, cherished in men's hearts, and let there be no doubt of it—in the end it will prevail.—N.Y. Times.

Rewarded For Kindness

Ballet Dancer And Hospital Attendant Receive Large Fortune

It's a story strange as fiction with a typical surprise ending—this true-life tale of how a former assistant theatre manager and a ballet dancer were kind to an eccentric old woman and reaped an estimated $1,000,000 reward.

The woman was 70-year-old Mrs. Edna Morris Elliott, a quiet housewife of film houses who became known as "New York's Champion Movie Fan".

A feminine hermit, she died friendless and alone in her three-story brownstone house in West 88th street.

Her will disclosed she had left securities and $80,000 in jewels to Rosalie Spatcher, a ballet dancer, and the residue to William Reilly, former assistant manager of the Roxy Theatre. They had "helped to make the recent years of my life more pleasant," Mrs. Elliott wrote in her will.

Reilly, whose sudden wealth lifted him from a $32-a-month hospital attendant's post, said attorneys told him the estate was valued at $1,000,000.

He said when he first met Mrs. Elliott in 1927 he thought she was poor—she wore old-fashioned dresses with leg o'mutton sleeves—and arranged for her to have a front row seat every Thursday when the theatre changed its program. Afterward he would discuss the show with her briefly.

The theatre closed temporarily in 1932 and Reilly lost his job. He never saw Mrs. Elliott again.

She then began attending Radio City Music Hall and during her intermissions Mrs. Spatcher often walked over to chat with the lonely old woman in the front row seat. She never knew Mrs. Elliott's identity or saw her outside the theatre.

It was some time before Reilly learned of his fortune. He said he had dodged Mrs. Elliott's lawyers for several days—thinking they were trying to serve him with a summons.

Way In Which Britain Has Eliminated Slum Houses

The Municipal Journal, London, says nearly one thousand persons are being moved every day in Great Britain from slum houses to new and decent dwellings.

To-day one-third of the population are living in post-war houses. Since the end of the war over three and a half million new houses have been provided in England and Wales, and of these more than a million have been built by local authorities.

Italy's Grand Council Plans Establishment Of New Lower House

Rome.—The Fascist grand council decreed abolition of the Italian chamber of deputies and establishment in its place of a new chamber of fascies and guilds.

In a step long promised by Premier Mussolini, the chamber of deputies, already shorn of almost all power, will cease to exist at the end of its present session.

Henceforth legislation will be enacted by the senate and a new lower house composed of representatives of Fascist party units—each unit known as a fascio—and of the guilds and corporations into which commerce, labor, industry and the professions have been united by the totalitarian regime.

The Fascist party and guild representatives are to be composed of the members of their two national councils.

It duce and the Fascist grand council, which ended a midnight meeting with announcement of the new legislative setup, also are to be members of the chamber.

Minimum age limit for members is to be 25 years.

Usually well-informed sources said the council expected to hear a report on Anglo-Italian talks of the last five days concerned with Italian intervention in Spain and probable British recognition of Italy's Ethiopian conquest.

The council also was expected to study French-Italian relations in light of the French decision to send an ambassador to Rome after a lapse of over two years due to France's determination to withhold recognition of the Ethiopian empire.

King Vittorio Emanuele still must sign legislation. In case of war or urgent financial or tax questions, royal decrees also still are in order.

The council's new decisions are to be submitted to the cabinet for final action at a meeting scheduled for November 7th.

Germany's Colonial Claims

East Africa Must Be Consulted Before Any Steps Taken

Nairobi, Kenya, British East Africa.—East Africa must be consulted before any irrevocable decisions regarding the future of Tanganyika are reached, the East African Standard declared.

"It would be impolitic and unjust of Prime Minister Chamberlain to assume that any negotiations with Germany could be concluded without the prior knowledge and consent of the East African territories and of South Africa," the newspaper said.

Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa, is to the south of Kenya and has frequently been mentioned in connection with Germany's colonial claims.

France Still Wants Soviet Russia To Remain As An Ally

Paris.—Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet intimated before the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies that France still wants the Soviet Union's big army on her side despite any agreement she may reach with Germany.

The reading of a telegram from Hitler to former premier Pierre Flaminio caused an uproar at another point in the committee meeting. The fuhrer thanked Flaminio for his efforts toward "complete collaboration between France and Germany."

Bonnet said he "hoped" Russia would join the proposed international guarantee of what is to be left of Czechoslovakia. Committee members said he expressed the stand of the French government.

Reichsfuhrer Hitler has been reported insistently opposed to Russian participation in the guarantee.

It appeared the French and British governments had ruled against exclusion of Russia.

Still another development in the crisis aftermath was a move by Premier Daladier to demobilize French

Freight Rate Argument

Request By Lake Shippers For Increase Is Refused

Ottawa.—A request by lake shippers that a temporary maximum rate of 7½ cents a bushel be set for the shipment of wheat from the lakehead to St. Lawrence ports was refused by the board of grain commissioners.

The request was made as shippers sought an increase in the maximum rate of seven cents set recently by the board. They requested to be allowed to accept orders at 7½ cents while the board considered their representations. The effect of the decision is to continue the seven cent rate which took effect Oct. 1, at least until the board reaches a decision on the representations.

In their argument the shippers held the maximum of 7 cents was too low and threatened the continued operation of lake boats. They argued they suffered from losses in seven lean years and asked to be allowed to charge what they considered reasonable rates for their season to help them make up their losses.

Soviet Russia's Stand

British Government Remains Calm Over Franco-Russia Treaty Break

London.—British government circles remained unperturbed at Soviet Russia's indication she will denounce the Franco-Soviet treaty.

Some circles favorable to the government welcomed the move as removing a barrier in the way of concluding a four-power western European pact. These circles have privately advocated cancellation of the Franco-Soviet pact for some time.

The indication from Moscow that Soviet Russia regards France as without an ally in Europe except Great Britain struck close to the hearts of anti-government elements. They feared it was a sign that London and Paris were now condemned to face greater Germany alone should the fuhrer ever decide to turn back west.

Proposes Home For Eskimos

Aged Members Deseried By Tribes Says Bishop Of Arctic

Ottawa.—Members of the Northwest Territories Council have received a proposal from Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Anglican bishop of the Arctic, that the Dominion government contribute to the building of a home for aged Eskimos at Pangnirtung, Baffin Island, 30 miles south of the Arctic circle. The proposal has not yet been considered by the council, a group of government officials who administer the Territories.

Bishop Fleming mentioned the need for such a home in a sermon to the congregation of St. Paul's church in Toronto recently. He called the custom of pagan Eskimos deserting aged members of the tribes "appalling."

The Munich conference which decided Czechoslovakia should be dismembered to meet Hitler's demands, excluded Russia.

The resulting accord of Britain, France, Italy and Germany had been interpreted in some quarters as the start of a four-power directorate of European affairs with Russia left out.

Flaminio, a leader of the right in the chamber, acknowledged authenticity of the Hitler telegram and said, "Permit me to ignore this incident." Before the Munich accord Flaminio advocated refusal to honor the French mutual assistance pledge to Czechoslovakia.

Italy Bans Jews

Limit Their Participation In The Country's National Life

Rome.—The Fascist grand council has issued a sweeping series of regulations limiting participation of Jews in Italy's life.

After a 4½-hour session devoted largely to racial questions, Fascism's supreme policy-making body banned all marriages between Italians and "African, Semite and other races."

Civilian and military employees of the state were forbidden to marry "foreign women of whatever race," and other Italians were required to have the interior ministry's permission before contracting any foreign marriage.

The grand council prohibited Italian Jews from:

1. Enrolment in the Fascist party.
2. Owning or managing business firms of any sort employing more than 100 persons.
3. Owning more than 50 hectares (123.5 acres) of land.
4. Entering Italy's military services in peace or wartime.

Excluded from the anti-Jewish regulations were relatives of soldiers killed in the Libyan, Great Ethiopian or Spanish wars. Also exempt were families of war veterans or volunteers and of Italians killed or wounded fighting for the Fascist cause.

The grand council declared the decrees would apply to Italians whose parents were Jews, or whose father was Italian and mother Aryan as well as those whose parents professed the Jewish religion whatever their race.

It was announced additional provisions would be made public later regulating the activities of Jews in professions such as law, medicine and engineering.

Broadening the anti-Jewish program which Italy first announced Sept. 1, the grand council offered Jews the prospect of seeking sanctuary in Ethiopia saying it "did not exclude the possibility of conceding controlled immigration of Jews into some zones of Ethiopia, even deflecting such immigration from Palestine."

Camps For Jobless

British Columbia Is Planning To Care For Single Men

Victoria.—Camps to provide work for homeless single unemployed in British Columbia will be opened again this winter, it was announced by Hon. George S. Pearson. The provincial minister of labor said an arrangement "somewhat along the same lines as last year" would be made with the federal government to care for single men.

Mr. Pearson has just returned from Ottawa where he discussed the problem with Hon. Norman Rogers, federal labor minister.

He said the agreement between the two governments covering the scheme has not yet been signed but will be when several unsettled details are decided.

National Marketing Policy

Is Great Need Of Western Canada Opinion Of Saskatchewan Man

Saskatoon.—Formulation of a national marketing policy, and creation of a national commission for establishing markets for Canadian farm products in the large centers of population on the European continent, as well as in the United Kingdom, were described as the greatest needs of the western Canada producer by W. A. Landreth, of Winnipeg, president of the Western Canadian Producers' Association, in an address here to a service club.

"We have advanced far past the time when we could market any surplus produce in eastern Canada," Mr. Landreth stated. "Partly because the east is not able to absorb as much of our goods as formerly, and partly because our production has increased greatly, we must look overseas if our western farmers are to have any permanent prosperity."

"I am speaking particularly," Mr. Landreth explained, "of our western production of butter, eggs, cheese and poultry meats. For a long time we have been producing large surpluses of these, and of good quality, and our overseas market is pretty well established now. But in the other lines I have mentioned, there is still the greatest need for a national commission to study the markets, create new markets, and inform our producers as to how to go about capturing these new markets."

Autonomy Allowed For Slovaks Within Czech Framework

Trans-Canada Airlines

Expected That Service Should Be Self-Sustaining

Montreal.—Once operating on a regular schedule basis with reasonable mail contracts and normal passenger traffic, Trans-Canada Airlines should be "self-sustaining if kept small and flexible," Phillip G. Johnson, operating vice-president, said. Mr. Johnson told reporters he could not set a definite date for starting of regular service on the transcontinental line. Pilots and ground personnel were still engaged in experimental flights between Montreal and Winnipeg and Winnipeg and the west coast.

Aeroplane skis will not be used. When snow comes, the landing fields will be kept well rolled so big planes can land safely on wheels.

Passenger flights will come first on the western divisions across the prairies and the Rockies, the vice-president said. Passenger tariff schedules were in course of preparation on a basic rate of about six cents a mile, roughly a little more than rail fare plus Pullman rates. Trans-Canada Airlines, he pointed out, were required by law to provide rates comparable with those on competing lines on the United States transcontinental routes and other competitors.

Service from Montreal to the maritime provinces would be deferred at least until 1939.

Arab Rebellion

British Troops Kill Fifty Men In One Engagement

Jerusalem.—British troops, assisted by Royal Air Force planes, killed 50 men in an engagement along the Lebanese border in a stiffened drive to put down what authorities now call an Arab rebellion.

Three Jewish-owned trucks were ambushed. Two of the drivers were killed and one was wounded. The British command dispatched a large force to the trouble zone.

The fatalities brought the total of insurgent casualties to 120 for two days. Within 10 weeks there have been about 1,700 casualties and more than 700 deaths. The British army and police have suffered at least 75 casualties.

(Sir Harold MacMichael, high commissioner for Palestine, arrived by air in London to report on the situation. The present policy of the British government pivots on a plan to partition Palestine into Jewish, Arab and British corridor sections—a plan which both Jews and Arabs have criticized.)

Escape By Parachute

London.—Ten flyers, the crews of two Royal Air Force planes, parachuted to safety when their planes crashed. One fell over Yorkshire, the other over the English channel.

Gathering Information On Family Budgets In Canadian Cities

Ottawa.—Field agents of the bureau of statistics this week in 12 Canadian cities started gathering data from specially selected families as to weekly expenditures on food, clothing and other costs which enter into the family budget. Dr. R. H. Coats, Dominion statistician, announced 85 or 90 field agents were at work.

Surveys are being made in Charlottetown, Halifax, Saint John, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver. Data from 5,000 families will be available the end of October.

The survey is part of a world-wide movement to get actual statistics concerning nutrition and the ordinary habits of the ordinary family—leading to whether the family income is adequate to provide proper nourishment and other necessities.

Last session parliament voted $25,000 for the undertaking. The results will be submitted to the Canadian council on nutrition.

For months experts from the health department, national research council, agricultural and labor departments have been preparing for the survey, deciding on the questions

Prague.—The Czechoslovak government launched a determined program to build a more unified republic by binding together Czechs and Slovaks remaining within its narrowed borders.

The first step came with appointment of Dr. Joseph Tisot, vice-president of the Slovak People's Party, as "prime minister for Slovaks" in the new Prague government.

His appointment, granting the Slovaks autonomy within the framework of the Czechoslovak government, was requested by the Slovak People's Party which formed a coalition with two other Slovak political groups—the Nationalists and Agrarians.

The new autonomous Slovakia will have four ministers in the Prague government, in addition to Dr. Tisot. Slovakia will be in charge of everything in its territory except foreign affairs, national defence, administration of the national state debt and contraction of loans. These four items will be under the Prague government.

The seat of the Slovak government undoubtedly will be Bratislava, principal city of Slovakia.

Geneva.—League of Nations sources said that Czechoslovakia would ask for league financial credit within the next few days. A league loan, such as given in the past to former Austria and to Hungary, would be used for reconstruction and restoration of communications.

Settling Labor Disputes

More Rational Way Must Be Found To Determine Wages

Toronto.—President Charles W. Chose of the American Transit Association said a national, peaceable manner of determining wages must be found to replace the present arbitral methods of settling labor disputes which had proven a failure.

"Labor and management, representing a national, peaceable manner of determining wages must be found to replace the present arbitral methods of settling labor disputes which had proven a failure. The opening of the 37th annual convention of the association, "must find a rational, peaceable means of determining and insuring the payment of as high wages to labor employed, under the best working conditions practicable, as the earnings of the enterprise will permit."

He said this should be accomplished "while still maintaining the continued existence of the property, its credit, a reasonable return to its owners and the furnishing of an efficient and modern service of the character the public demands and is entitled to."
